

South Asian Legal Clinic of Ontario (SALCO) Articling Position – 2018/2019

The South Asian Legal Clinic of Ontario is a community legal clinic funded by Legal Aid Ontario (LAO). We provide legal advice and representation to low-income South Asians in the Greater Toronto Area, including, but not limited to, clients from Bangladesh, Pakistan, India, Sri Lanka, the West Indies, Africa and other people of South Asian origin. Areas of law practiced include Immigration, Human Rights, Income Maintenance (Ontario Works, Ontario Disability Support Program, Canada Pension Plan, Old Age Security, and Employment Insurance), and Tenants Rights. SALCO also conducts a significant amount of law reform work on issues including trafficking, forced marriage, race/religious discrimination, police profiling, and family violence (elder abuse, domestic violence). Work includes test case work, lobbying, community development, and public legal education activities.

SALCO is seeking an articling student for the 2018/2019 articling term. All applicants must be eligible to undertake articles in Ontario. The articling student will work out of the clinic / satellite offices during clinic hours but some evening or weekend work may be required. The articling student will have a broad range of experiences while articling with SALCO including casework, law reform work, and public legal education. Casework will focus on immigration, family violence, social assistance, employment law, and human rights work. Articling will include assisting SALCO lawyers with casework, handling your own small caseload, creating and conducting public legal education, and participating in law reform and community development projects at the clinic. Salary will be at the level provided by the Law Foundation of Ontario.
